Your spouse, the Petitioner, has filed an action to dissolve your marriage. The issues raised in this action for divorce have been stated in the petition which is attached to this summons. It also states the relief sought by the Petitioner.

You have the right to have an attorney represent you in this action. If you have any counter-claims to make against the Petitioner or if you wish to raise any issues not raised in his/her petition, you must do so by timely filing a written counter-petition in this Court.

If you do not respond to this petition in any way or if you do not appear in this Court for final hearing, the issues raised in the Verified Petition for Dissolution of Marriage will be heard and determined at the final hearing in spite of your failure to respond or appear.
